EVENING BULLETIN.

FRIDAY EVENING, MARCH 12, 1858.

A letter from New Mexico states that Capt. Marcy's force on their recent trip to New Mexico had to eat twelve mules.

Wm. Selden, late of the banking firm of Selden, Withers, & Co., Washington, has been appointed Marshal of the District of Columbia.

TELEGRAPHIC ABSTRACT OF THE MAJORITY REPORT OF THE SELECT COMMITTEE OF THE HOUSE ON KANSAS AFFAIRS.

WASHINGTON, March 10. Mr. Stephens, of Georgia, made a report expressive of the views of the majority of the Kansas committee. It commences by saying that the subject matter, to which attention should be directed, was, first, the law for taking the census of the people. 2d, the law calling the convention. 3d, the registry of the voters and the apportionment under it. 4th, the assembling of the convention and its journal. 5th, the constitution to be made. 6th, the official vote of the convention. 7th, the subject submitted. 7th, the committee filed, not delinquent, its material. The act of December last providing for a vote for or against the slavery clause on the 4th of January. 8th, the official announcement of that vote, and 9th, the written statement of General Cochran in relation to the registry of voters, &c., but which sheds no light on the subject. The report says that these facts show great regularity and strict conformity to law, and that no State heretofore applying for admission has shown a clearer record. No objection to the admission of Kansas arises of the usual inquiries. First, as to the application; secondly, as to the regularity of the proceedings; and thirdly, whether the constitution is republican in form.

The report then answers the objections, going very fully into a reply to Governor Walker's argument founded on his assumption that the validity of every State constitution depends upon its having received the sanction of a popular vote. This assumption is denied as not being sustained by principles or authority. Sovereignty, Mr. Stephens says, is inalienable and rests exclusively in the people. This granted, but the report says it does not follow that sovereign power cannot be delegated. The formation of a constitution requires the exercise of sovereign power, but so does the most common act of legislation. If one can be delegated so can the other. All the constitutions of the old States were made by conventions without ratification, except that of Massachusetts. The constitution of the United States was ratified by State conventions, and never by the popular vote. The amendments to it are to be concurred in by the State Legislature, and not by the popular vote, to give them validity. If Gov. Walker's doctrine is correct we should be without State constitutions or law in half the States of the Union.

The objection that an enabling act is necessary is also answered and shown to be untenable both in principle and authority. The question relative to the registry and apportionment is very fully treated. The charges that nineteen counties were disfranchised is completely answered. There are but thirty-four organized counties in Kansas. Twenty-one of the counties were represented. Nine of the thirteen unrepresented counties have very little population. In seven of them not a vote was cast at the January election against the constitution. In two others of the nine counties less than 100 votes were thrown, and in the four remaining, namely, Franklin, Anderson, Coffey, and Breckinridge, there were but 435. In these counties the officers were prevented from making a registry. The report also shows from the registry and apportionment, together with the official returns, that at the 4th of January election the five counties of Leavenworth, Atchison, Douglas, Doniphan, and Johnson cast 5,118 votes, which is a majority of the whole vote cast throughout the Territory against the constitution, and yet all the counties were registered and represented in the convention, having 36 of the 60 delegates of which the convention was composed.

If it be true that the opponents of the constitution were so largely in the majority in these counties, so violent in their opposition, why did they not elect men to form a constitution more to their liking? They had within four weeks of two-thirds of the convention. Why then did they fail to act at the proper time? Their refusal therefore did not invalidate the just, fair, and legal action of the convention. The resolution under which the committee was appointed directed them to inquire whether the Lecompton constitution is acceptable and satisfactory to the people. The reply to this is that the only correct test is the ballot box, and such an expression of the popular will as is there given at the proper time and place according to law. By this test the constitution was adopted by an overwhelming majority of those who joined the election. These only can be considered as the bona fide citizens of Kansas. Others who abstained are bona fide residents who went to Kansas for mischief and strife. They are self-acknowledged outlaws, and are not to be considered as constituent elements of the community or society against which they are in open rebellion.

But on the 4th of January, at the election for State officers under the constitution, more than 12,000 voters in Kansas did go to the polls, and this showed conclusively that at least four-fifths of the voters of that Territory were willing to vote for the election of State officers under the constitution. This shows that the constitution was not only acceptable, but that it has been accepted by at least four-fifths of the voters of that Territory, though not entirely satisfactory to all of them; the committee decline to go into an investigation of the alleged frauds at the January election for State officers, for want of jurisdiction of the House over the subject. They say they can no more investigate frauds relating to the election of State officers in Kansas than in any other State. These matters are to be investigated by other appropriate legitimate tribunals. If the seat of the member of Congress elected to this House be contested on the ground of alleged frauds, the House would have jurisdiction over that matter, but not as to frauds in the election of Governor by members of the Legislature of Kansas. The report concludes with a recommendation for the admission of the State of Kansas in pursuance of the views of the President, believing that the welfare and prosperity of the people of Kansas as well as the general welfare, peace, and harmony of the whole Union will thereby be promoted.

FIRE AND LOSS OF LIFE IN NORTH CAROLINA.—On the night of the 23d ult., a fire occurred at Newbern, N. C., destroying five buildings, two of which belonged to the estate of Captain Outten, and another occupied by Mr. Thomas J. Marshall. The latter gentleman was awakened and found himself nearly suffocated by smoke, and the lower portion of the building in flames. He instantly jumped out of the upper story window and endeavored to procure a ladder to rescue his family, but was unable to find one at the moment. The Union says:

Despairing of saving them in this way, and being almost frantic, he returned to his house, which was then almost entirely in flames, and shouted to his wife to throw the children to him from the window and then jump out herself; but, as the words were uttered, he heard her screams below stairs. Rushing in through the fire and smoke, he found her lying on the floor, where she had fallen, overcome by fright and suffocation, and totally unable to account for the manner in which she had descended the stairs, as they were nearly a complete sheet of flame.

On reaching the street, Mrs. M. stated that one of her children (an infant about six months old) was on the floor where she was found, when some one rushed in and re-cued it; not, however, without its having sustained very serious, and, we fear, fatal injuries. Another effort was now made to save the other children, but, alas! too late! The ladder was quickly ascended by the frantic father, who attempted to effect an entrance, but, when the windows were opened, nothing but a complete mass of fire and smoke met his agonizing gaze, entirely precluding the possibility of his entering the room or of his children being alive. It was then that hope forsook the bosoms of the unfortunate parents, and they realized the terrible and heartrending fact that their children had perished. They were both boys, one in his fifth and the other in his third year. The other child subsequently died from the effects of the fire.

ITEMS.

The Glasgow Herald states that David and Robert Macdonald, the leading partners of the late too well known firm of the Macdonalds, sewed mill manufacturing, have transferred their industry to the New World, having sailed for New York on the 13th of February.

It is stated that there are eight hundred laborers in Toronto out of employment, and a town meeting has been convened to devise measures for their relief.

Oil from a New Source.—An important branch of manufacturing at Marseilles, France, is the production of oil from peanuts, and for making soap it is said to be preferable to the other seed oils. The shell is not removed, but is crushed with the kernel. Hazlitt says: "Most people don't think; they only think they think."

Rabbits.—Mr. Wirtle, living in Macon county, Missouri, killed one hundred and fifty rabbits on a piece of ground three-quarters of an acre in extent, on the 14th ult., and, next day, killed thirty-three more, although it "wasn't a very good rabbit day either."

Improvement in Steam Boilers.—Among the recent patents issued was one for a steam boiler invented by George Norris, of Philadelphia. The patent is for a closed chamber between the fire box and tube sheet, for the purpose not only of preventing any combustion going on in actual contact with the tubes of the boiler, but also for the purpose of equalizing the heat before it reaches the tubes.

The banking house of S. L. Green & Co., in Henry, Marshall county, Illinois, was broken into by burglars on the night of the 26th ult. and over $10,000 taken from the safe.

A Mean Thief.—Moses J. Trafton has been arrested at Portland, Me., and taken to Lowell, charged with stealing 1,300 boxes of cathartic pills from Dr. J. C. Ayer, of Lowell, and peddling them "down East" at less than wholesale prices.

Thomas Fantin, 60 years of age, a native of Ireland, got drunk in New York on Wednesday, and while in that condition staggered into the middle of the street, stumbled and fell face downward into a pool of water, and, being unable to help himself, was drowned.

Monument to Ethan Allen.—The State of Vermont has appropriated two thousand dollars for a monument to Ethan Allen, to be erected over his remains lying in Green Mount Cemetery, Burlington, Vermont, the corner-stone of which it is proposed to lay on the 10th of May next, being the 83d anniversary of the surprise and capture of Ticonderoga. An effort is being made to give completeness to the monument by mounting it with a colossal statue of the hero in granite or marble, by means of private dollar subscriptions, the names of all contributors to be deposited, with other memorials, under the corner-stone of the monument.

A play performed the ghost in Hamlet very badly, was hissed. After bearing it a good while, he put the audience in a good humor by stepping forward, and saying, "Ladies and gentlemen, I must give up the ghost."

An Irish post-boy having driven a gentleman a long stage during torments of rain, the gentleman civilly said to him, "Paddy, are you not very wet?" "Arrah! I don't care about being very wet, but please your honor, I'm very dry."

A gentleman of Boston, who takes a business view of most things, when recently asked respecting a person of quite a poetic temperament, replied: "Oh, those are the men who have scourgings after the infinite, and divings after the unfathomable, but who never pay cash."

Efforts are making in Boston to collect $10,000, to be awarded partly in premiums of $2,000, $1,500, and $1,000, to the fire companies throwing the first, second, and third highest stream of water, through 400 feet of hose, and $1,000 and $500 to the two hose companies doing the same. The trial is to take place in August and September next on Boston common, and to be open to all the fire companies in the United States.

Ole Bull at Home.—A private letter to a musical gentleman in New York states that Ole Bull had been received with great enthusiasm, not only at Bergen, the city of his birth, but in Christiania, and every city and village through which he passed. From the theater he was followed home by thousands of persons, accompanied by a band of music, and, even after he had reached his hotel, the enthusiastic multitude continued for some time to pour forth their joyous acclamations at his safe return to his fatherland.

FROM WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, March 9. Dispatches were to day received at the Navy Department from Commodore Armstrong, commanding the East India squadron, dated Dec. 28. Captain Simms, who was sent some time since to the Island of Formosa to inquire into the fate of the crew of the ship Highflyer and of other vessels supposed to be wrecked on that Island, had reached Shanghai, and reported that no information could be obtained of white persons being held in captivity by either the Chinese or native inhabitants of the Island.

The English and French fleets had moved up the river off Canton, and had established their headquarters on the Island of Lian, opposite. The French fleet having left Macao, and fears being entertained of a revolt, the Americans residing there had asked that a United States vessel of war might be sent there for their protection and refuge. Commodore Armstrong had sent the sloop-of-war Portsmouth to their relief.

Advices from Commissioner Reed are of a most encouraging nature. He hopes to conclude his mission by the autumn of this year, and return to the United States.

The President has appointed the following cadets at large for West Point: George McKee, Samuel M. Mansfield, Singleton Van Buren, William B. Beebe, George N. Bonford, William H. Betts, Chas. R. Suter, Wm. Bartlett, Roland S. Mackenzie, and John R. Blocker.

PREACHING ADVERTISEMENTS.—One of our exchanges has the following admirable bit at the style of advertising sermons, becoming so common of late in our cities and large towns:

Suppose a golly man was to advertise that he should preach, next Sabbath morning, "on the Necessity of Religion;" in the afternoon, "on Giving the Holy Spirit;" and in the evening, "on Faith in Christ." The community would laugh at his simplicity, and stay at home. But if it should be noticed that Rev. Mr. B., or Rev. Dr. R., would preach "on War in Heaven," and the part that Young Men and Young Women were to take in it," or, "on Paul, the Christian Gentleman," or, "a Parallel between Washington and Moses," or, "a Parallel between the Dancing of David before the Ark, and the Dancing of Herodias's daughter before Herod and the Chief Estates of Galilee," there would be a rush to hear this new Gospel. Now what must be the state of a minister's heart who craves such notoriety? and what must be the result to himself and his hearers?

Whenever we see these clap-trap advertisements, in the Saturday morning secular papers, we set it down as an evidence that the preacher, whoever he may be who permits them to be made, is hard run for hearers, and that he is making an effort to secure them in a method which even if it succeeds temporarily in securing him an audience will eventually react in such a way as to leave him without an audience at all.—Presbyterian Herald.

DEVOURING DROWNED MULES.—A correspondent, who is connected with Lieut. Beale's camel expedition, gives the following incident concerning the feeding of the Colorado river: "We were not so fortunate with our mules; worn out with incessant labor, and weakened by want of food, some of them were unable to resist the rapid current, and were swept down and drowned. Then commenced a sickening scene. Scarcely had the breath left their bodies when they were dragged out of the water by the Indians and torn limb from limb, to gratify their savage appetite; throwing huge pieces of the reeking flesh on the fires which they had hastily kindled, and they suffered them to burn for a few moments, and then, no longer able to refrain from their horrid feast, they tore it with their teeth like hungry dogs, while their faces and hands were beamed with gore. It was a sickening sight."

[From the Kenton (Ohio) Republican of March 5.]

Orange township has recently been made the favored locality of one of these remarkable visitations which the people have learned to regard as very "few and far between"—an angel's visit. Sometime in August last, a bright and intelligent little girl, aged five years, the daughter of Mr. Charles, who resides in the locality described, while playing near the well in the yard, about noon of the day, seemed to discern something high up in the air, and descending toward her. The attention of the child was so much drawn to the object that her gaze became riveted upon it, and as it drew near she was observed to make frequent attempts to reach it with her hands, and form a closer acquaintance with the strange visitant.

When the mother of the child was called to the scene, the little girl informed her that she was in the presence of an angel; that she had talked with it; that it had made communications to her; and furthermore gave a description of it according to every particular which she generally received in vision. As to the appearance of these visitations from above, I testify myself that there could be no delusion in the matter, the mother entered into conversation with the stranger, and after having satisfied with the reality of the interview—after having seen and talked with the angel face to face—and after receiving information from it of the precise time when her own death would occur—she retired from the spot, taking her little girl with her, and the angel, waving its bright wings, returned heavenward. When the mother and the child were alone, they talked of what they had seen and heard, and the mother's sadness was made deeper by the angel's story of the child, who said that "he angel told her she would die just two months from the time when she first saw it, precisely at 12 o'clock and twenty-five minutes; that she would be three days in dying; that her death would be unlike that of others; that her friends would suppose her to be in a trance; that her eyes would not be closed; that her funeral would be held with the generally received in vision. ## BOERHAVE'S

HOLLAND BITTERS

THE CELEBRATED HOLLAND REMEDY FOR

DYSPEPSIA,

DISEASE OF THE KIDNEYS,

LIVER COMPLAINT,

WEAKNESS OF ANY KIND

FEVER AND AGUE,

And all various affections consequent upon a disordered

STOMACH OR LIVER.

Such as Indigestion, Acidity of the Stomach, Colic Pains, Heartburn, Loss of Appetite, Dependence, Costiveness, Biliousness, Headache, &c. In all Nervous, Rheumatic, and Neuralgic Affections, it has innumerable instances, proved highly beneficial, and in others effected a complete cure.

This is a purely vegetable compound, prepared strictly according to the principles, after the manner of the celebrated HOLLAND, Dr. Boerhaves, because of its great success in most of the European and American States, and in the United States it was introduced more especially for those of our fatherland scattered here and there over the face of this mighty country, and in its great success among them, I now offer it to the American public, knowing that its truly wonderful medicinal virtues must be acknowledged.

It is particularly recommended to those persons whose constitutions may have been impaired by the continuous use of ardent spirits, or other forms of dissipation. Generally instantaneous in its effect, it finds its way directly to the seat of life, thrilling and quickening every nerve, raising up the drooping spirit, and, in fact, infusing new health and vigor in the system.

NOTICE.—Whoever expects to find this a beverage will be disappointed; but to the sick, weak, and low spirited it will prove a grateful aromatic cordial, possessed of singular remedial properties.

CAUTION.
The great popularity of this delightful Aroma has induced many imitations, which the public should guard against purchasing. Be not persuaded to buy anything else until you have given Boerhaves's Holland Bitters a fair trial. One bottle will convince you how infinitely superior it is to all these imitations.

[From the Baltimore Sun of Monday]
ARREST OF A FUGITIVE HUSBAND.—SINGULAR
CASE.—Some ten days ago detective officer Mills, of New York, came on to the city in search of a man named Lucius E. Bulkeley, whom it was alleged had taken from his wife their child and left the city. A search was made through the city without success, and the officer returned to New York. A few days ago he returned, accompanied by Mrs. Bulkeley and her counsel, Mr. Bulkeley, who was ascertained that he had been in Philadelphia under the name of Dr.
Collins, and was accompanied by a female. On their arrival in this city they took board at a house on West Middle street, under the name of Butler.

When Mrs. B. arrived she placed the business of the recovery of the child in the hands of detective officers Gorman and Stevens, who called officer Edwards to their aid, and yesterday they found the parties at their boarding house. Officer Gorman went to the room, but found there no person but the female, when his eye fell on the murder of a man named Bulkeley, and there found Bulkeley and the child.

They were both taken into custody, and in a hurry taken to Barnum's, where the mother is stopping. Not having seen their mother for two years, the little boy had lost all recollection of her, and though she caught him in her arms, he denied to be called her son.

Bulkeley refused to surrender the child, but it was taken from him, and he, with the female, was carried to New York by the evening train. It is alleged that Mrs. B. left New York for California, and a visit to her mother, when her husband placed in her hands a box, which he said was a present to her mother. While on the way, and when it was too late to return, she opened the box, and found it to contain a notice of action for divorce. The suit was tried before she got back and decided in her favor.

Proceedings were then instituted and the judgment was reversed, when he fled with the child. A writ was also issued against him for false pretences,
which the officer had in hand when he was arrested.

The hearing of the murder of a man named
Bulkeley, his wife, and her man, in the country,
two miles from Dublin Corcoran, and about ten miles
from Brockville. The murdered body of Thompson was found lying on the bed, fearfully mangled. The body of his wife was found on a chair, dreadfully cut, while the body of the hired man was found in the barn literally cut to pieces.

Horrid Murders at Brockville.—The Brockville (Canada) Recorder states that news reached that place on Wednesday of the murder of a man named Bulkeley, his wife, and her man, in the country,
two miles from Dublin Corcoran, and about ten miles
from Brockville. The murdered body of Thompson
was found lying on the bed, fearfully mangled. The body of his wife was found on a chair, dreadfully
cut, while the body of the hired man was found in
the barn literally cut to pieces.

XXXVIII CONGRESS—FIRST SESSION.

Friday's Proceedings.

WASHINGTON, March 12.

Senate.—Mr. Chandler of Michigan, commenced a speech on the Kansas bill.

House.—The congressional and diplomatic appropriation bill was taken up and passed.

Mr. Clingman of N. C. from the Committee on Foreign Affairs, reported a bill appropriating $75 to pay for the repairs of the Norwegian bark Ellen, which rescued a portion of the passengers of the wrecked steamer Central America. Passed.

The House also passed the Senate bill authorizing certain officers and men engaged in the several expeditions by the United States in search of Sir John Franklin to receive the medals in commemoration of their services, awarded by the British Government.

The Speaker announced the pending question to be an appeal taken by Mr. Harris, of Illinois, from the decision of the chair that he could not read the journal and statement of the Kansas committee to show that the committee had not executed the order of the House for the reason that the minority could not make a report from the committee, and that it was no question of privilege.

New York, March 12.
An arrival furnishes Baliz, Honduras, advises to the 18th of February. The Legislature had passed a cratic Convention of the Seventh Congressional District to succeed Samuel Caruthers.

CLEVELAND, March 12.
A crowded anti-Lecompton meeting was held in the Melodon last night. It was addressed by Hon.
F. P. Stanton and others, and resolutions were adopted declaring that the Democracy of Cleveland are opposed to the admission of Kansas under the Lecompton constitution.

St. Louis, March 12.
The steamer Lady Walton arrived at Jefferson Barracks yesterday with two hundred troops from Fort Smith. The steamer Arkansas, with two hundred additional troops from the same post, arrived hundred and sixty miles below Cairo. It is not yet ascertained whether any lives were lost. The troops belonged to Seventh regiment infantry, destined to Utah.

Boston, March 12.
The ship Helen of Boston, from London to Melbourne, was burnt at sea on 12 December 7th last. Her crew were all saved and arrived at G. I.
